

CALL MEETING TO AROUSE INTEREST IN PENSION PLAN

Old Age Pensions to be Discussed at Public Session Here Thursday.

A public meeting for discussion of Old Age Pensions, a law which will be introduced in the coming session of the legislature, will be held at the High school auditorium on Thursday evening.

The movement to secure these pensions is largely due to the efforts of the Fraternal Order of Eagles and the principal speaker of the evening will be Frank E. Herin, who has conducted a national speaking tour in order to arouse interest in this proposed measure.

The movement has secured the endorsement of leaders of labor and of capital and there is every prospect that a law will be passed in several states within the year.

Mr. Herin and Ex-Sen. Robert Proctor of Elkhart will explain the law in detail, showing the necessity of the law, explaining the provisions for raising funds and the manner of distribution.

The meeting is open to the public and is the opening of an extensive campaign in the state to secure the endorsement by all candidates for the legislature irrespective of party.

Three Nabbed by Police in Raids Deny Charges

Three defendants, arrested Sunday night following a vice raid by the police upon the Palace hotel, 109 S. Michigan st., entered pleas of not guilty upon arraignment in city court Monday and their cases were set for hearing by Judge DuComb April 4.

Robert D. Brown, said to be the proprietor of the Michigan st. rooming house, was charged with keeping a house of ill fame. Valley Dwyer, Lafayette, Ind., and Burt Winter, R. 5, South Bend, were charged with being an inmate and frequenting, respectively.

Brown is said to have a case pending against him charging violation of the liquor laws. The Dwyer girl also has a police record. It is said, both here and in Lafayette.

MARCH 25, 1922
IN SOUTH BEND

A glorious morning. The sun's kindly rays promise that once again the miracle of the resurrection will be witnessed by an expectant world.

The city awakes and eighty thousand souls give the day a joyful greeting. The laborer, mechanic, clerk, housewife and merchant take up their allotted tasks with happy hearts. Children, released from school, fill the air with the music of laughter. All are happy for this is a day when nature speaks of life and life only. Harvest time is far away—the Reaper is not of the present.

From out of the North a thin strand bears a message freighted with anguish unbearable. A sudden hush pervades, the sounds of a city's traffic pass unnoticed. Light gives way to shadow and South Bend mourns with a grief inconsolable.

Mothers, fathers, wives and dear ones of those who have gone, some succumb from anguish so poignant will be found in the knowledge that they gave their all in unselfish devotion to their fellow men. Their mission was one of service—their only gain an ideal attained that others, inspired by their example might adopt their creed and be ushered into a better world.

Eighty thousand citizens with eager sympathy will help to bear the crushing burden and South Bend this day pays homage to her sons who gave their all in the service of mankind.

The shadows fall—voices are hushed—the city mourns—tomorrow is the resurrection when life returns from sleeping.

Thieves Force Entrance to Sailor Bros. Store

Burglars, apparently more "Weary Willies" by nature than they were dangerous, forced entry into the Sailor Brothers' furniture store some time Sunday night. According to a report furnished by the police Monday, nothing of value was stolen.

Several pillows were found piled together and evidence showed clearly that the intruders had used them for an improvised bed, having undoubtedly made themselves "at home" for the night. A broken skylight showed their means of entrance and exit.

LOCAL OFFICIALS RETURN; APPEARED BEFORE U. S. JURY

Lane, Hamilton and Walters
Testify—Ex-Chief Kline
Also Before Body.

Nothing tangible so far as disclosing the nature of the federal grand jury inquiry in which ex-Chief of Police Peter B. Kline, Chief Laurence J. Lane, and other officials answered subpoenas in Indianapolis Saturday, was forthcoming Monday. Kline refused to talk for publication.

As each one of the men is sworn to secrecy until indictments, if any, have been voted and warrants served, nothing is known relative to the results obtained by the federal authorities in ascertaining whether or not there was sufficient grounds to conspiracy in the alleged existence of licensed gambling, vice and wholesale traffic in liquor.

Chief Lane, ex-Chief Kline and Capt. of Detectives Horace Hamilton and Detective "Ted" Walters, the other two members of the police department who were called before the federal body, returned here Saturday evening.

Lane met his predecessor, around whom the investigation is said to have centered, on the train on the return trip home.

"We had no exchange of opinions relative to the grand jury and neither Mr. Kline or myself discussed our respective missions," declared Chief Lane, Monday.

"For myself, however," the chief continued, "I was not made a party to any inquiry the jury might have conducted. My business in Indianapolis was confined to testimony relative to one particular case federal authorities have been recently investigating here."

Wait Indictments.

Lane, while refusing to discuss the nature of the "particular" case, however, emphatically declared that it was concerning nothing about condition of affairs prior to the first of the year.

Kline has been heard, however, that with Hamilton and Walters, the grand jury's quiz was of entirely a different nature and touched somewhat on the liquor traffic and along the lines suggested by the possible investigation into charges of conspiracy. These gentlemen, however, were as reticent as their present and past superior officers, and refused to disclose particulars about the inquiry.

"We were there, but there is nothing to say until we serve the warrants," said Hamilton.

Those Pretty Teeth

How careful people get them

Careful people—millions of them—are brushing their teeth in a new way. They do it almost the world over, and largely by dental advice. Whiter teeth, you see, result. You see them everywhere. Now we urge you to try the method which they use. Ask us for a ten-day test.

Just remove the film

It is film that makes teeth dingy. That viscous coat clings to the teeth, enters crevices and stays. The tooth brush used in old ways has left much of it intact.

Film is what discolors, not the teeth. Film is the basis of tartar. Most people's teeth are kept clouded by it, more or less.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acids. It holds the acids in contact with the teeth to cause decay. It breeds millions of germs, and they, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

All these troubles have been constantly increasing. And most of them are traced to film which old-way brushing left on teeth.

What must be done

Dental science, after long research, has found two film combatants. Able authorities have proved their efficiency. Now leading dentists, here and abroad, are urging their daily use.

A new-type dentifrice has been created, called Pepsodent. It complies with modern requirements. And these film-fighting methods are embodied in it. Every use attacks the film in two effective ways.

Aids Nature too

Gummy starch deposits also cling to teeth, and often ferment and form acids. To digest them, Nature puts a starch digestant in the saliva. Every use of Pepsodent multiplies that starch digestant.

Nature puts alkalis in the saliva to neutralize mouth acids. Each use of Pepsodent multiplies those alkalis.

Thus Pepsodent twice daily brings five desired effects. It has brought to millions, as it will to you, a new conception of clean teeth.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube and watch the delightful effects. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

See the new beauty, feel the new cleanliness. Then judge for yourself what such results may mean to you and yours. This is too important to forget. Cut out the coupon now.

NO HEAT IN FLAT; $2,500 FOR DEATH

NEW YORK, March 27.—For the first time in American history a verdict for damages based on the failure of a landlord to supply his tenants with heat was rendered here today.

The woman escaped from the hospital about 10 p. m. Sunday by breaking a window. She was only a nightgown. When hospital attendants started in pursuit of her she climbed a tree, with remarkable agility. Every effort by attendants to reach her brought piercing screams and a threat to jump.

Police were appealed to, and in turn called firemen. But the woman, shouting at the top of her voice, warned them all away, declaring she never would come down.

James P. D. Cochran was awarded $2,500 damages for the death of his son, William, aged four months, by a jury before Justice Crosey in the supreme court in Brooklyn. The verdict was against George H. Jackson, owner of the apartment house in which Cochran lived. Cochran claimed that the absence of heat in the apartment last January resulted in the death of his son.

Cochran testified that when he investigated he found no coal in the cellar and was told by the janitor that the furnace could not be lighted.
